

To whom it may concern, we are the great grandparents of two young struggling kids (Naomi and Jack Lockard) that were unfortunately were affected by some very rare gene deficiency called SPG50. Our family has contributed over $500,000 so all we can ask is that IF there are more funds available to support this research to help them and future children that are affected by this gene abnormalities' we hope they can be found, Rebekah and Evan Lockard are the most loving and caring parents and we all are praying that there might be a therapy maybe to help find a cure to this horrible affection.
